Business Description	About 30 minutes from Paris sits the star attraction of Chantilly: Château de Chantilly, one of the grandest Châteaux in France. Originally built in 1358, the chateau was fully rebuilt in 1882 under the ownership of the Duke of Aumale, who amassed a superior art collection of 17th- and 18th-century works only second to the Louvre museum. Visit Château de Chantilly to see wonders such as the Duke's collection of 19,000 rare books, opulently decorated rooms of private quarters, the chateau's 285-acre grounds, and The Great Stables - the largest horse stables in Europe.
